

Swapping places of study

A swap of the place of study is possible between two students of veterinary medicine who are matriculated at a German university.

The swap of the place of study must be carried out without affecting capacity, that is:
both swapping partners must be matriculated in the same order and finally in the same course of studies and semester at a German university.

The application must be submitted in written form and requires the approval of both universities!

At the local university, the swap must be completed by the beginning of the respective lectures at the latest by presenting the required exam and study proofs.

The swapping partners are not procured by the university but by respective swap meets, e.g. www.studienplatztausch.de.
